

In these fast changing times, where development takes place at a high speed, the 100th anniversary of Journal Cement is an outstanding achievement which deserves the highest esteem. The long tradition of high-quality documentation and reports about the cement industry deserves thanks and appreciation at the same time.

May Journal Cement maintain its key role as a news and knowledge platform for the cement industry in Russian speaking countries and to a growing extent even beyond.

With best wishes for the future

Martin Schneider